LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

CRANE AND THE CLAIRVOYANT.

How the Comedian's Character was Read in a Most Surprising Manner by a Medium.

Most actors have a touch, more or less developed of superstition, and various as well as curious are the forms assumed by this mental disease, as it may not unfairly be considered. Now Mr. William H. Crane, the well known comedian, doubtless has his own pet subject on which he is not guided by the cold light of reason, but so far at least he has shown no symptoms of becoming a convert, as is the case with many of his professional brethren and sisters, to any form of spiritualistic or clairvoyant humbug. Last season, however, he came very near falling a victim, and this is said to be the manner of it. He had been warmly discussing the subject of supernaturalism with a member of his company, who, whether he were a believer in occult happenings or not, at all events affected on that occasion to espouse the cause of spiritualism most warmly. He also argued in favor of the extraordinary results of clairvoyance and adduced so many facts in support of his theory that Crane began to be somewhat shaken in the skeptical attitude he had assumed, the more so as to his exceeding surprise Mrs. Crane whom he had always looked upon as the last woman in the world to have spiritualistic leanings seemed to have become a sudden disciple of the cabalists and joined forces with the enemy. Finally in desperation Crane proposed a practical test of the powers of a certain medium of whose acquaintance his antagonist had boasted, and of whose mysterious powers he had told many extraordinary anecdotes. A gleam of satisfaction lit up the pseudo believers' eye, and over Mrs. Crane's good looking countenance flitted the ghost of a smile. The comedian was himself startled by the rapidity with which his proposition was caught up and the ease with which the details of the test were arranged by the others. It was decided that he should write his name upon a blank card, that the card should be sealed up in an envelope by Crane himself, whose signet ring impressed the plentiful blotches of sealing wax which adorned the packet, and that it should be sent to the medium, Crane himself dictating the letter which accompanied it and which simply requested that without breaking the seals the clairvoyant should read the character of the writer of the enclosed card. A few days afterwards the answer was received and with it came the sealed up envelope showing clearly that it had in no way been tampered with. A more astonished man than Crane, when he read the communication, it would be difficult to imagine. There in cold black and white, he saw his character, as it is known only to his intimates, clearly revealed, and in addition a complete sketch of his life, omitting, of course, all names, and couched in the somewhat enigmatical phraseology adopted by professors of clairvoyance. Crane was dumbfounded and not only showed the bewildering 'character' to all his friends, but wagged his head wisely and muttered that there was 'something in' clairvoyance after all. He grew almost angry at Mrs. Crane's lack of enthusiasm on the subject and it would have taken but little more to have rendered him an avowed believer in the whole range of supernatural manifestations. A trifling occurrence turned the current of his thoughts on the subject in another direction, however, and now there is no more thoroughgoing skeptic in these matters than Crane. The untoward happening was his accidental discovery of the rough draft, in Mrs. Crane's handwriting, of the marvellous communication received from the 'clairvoyant.' He said nothing, but made a few cautious enquiries which satisfied him that the whole affair was an elaborately practical joke concocted by his better half and the juvenile members of his company.

The Verdict Unanimous

W. D. Suit, Drug[gist], Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood. Only half a dollar a bottle at Dr. A. J. Stoner's Drug Store. 1m

THE assessed valuation of property as returned to the State Auditor's office shows some curious things. For instance 172,256 cattle in the 15th Dist., are valued at $1,130,811, while in the 16th Dist., 150,551 cattle are valued $565,670. In the 15th Dist. 159,101 hogs are valued at $259,238. In the 16th Dist., 111,639 hogs are valued at $119,993.

THE grand reunion of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which will take place in Springfield September 9 and 10, promises to be a grand affair. A grand parade of the divisions of the state will occur at 10 o'clock on the 9th, followed by exercises at Krous' park, at which addresses will be delivered by a number of prominent men. Two balloon ascensions, Irish games and sports, competitive drills and races will be among the many attractions offered to visitors, and low rates on the railroads will make it possible for many to attend who would otherwise be unable. A large crowd is expected and many friends of the order will go down from Decatur.

A Show Worthy of Patronage.

A show that keeps its promise with the people, and does not deceive them with false representations, deserves patronage and will always command it. Such a show is Wallace & Co's Menagerie and Three-ring circus, which will be at the ball park Monday Aug. 26th. There is no better amusement organization now traveling under canvas, nor none that has received more general commendation from both press and people.

Hear twice before you speak once.
He dances well to whom fortune pipes.
He doubles his gift who gives in time.
He fights with his own shadow.
He giveth twice that giveth in a trice.
He has a bee in his bonnet.
He has bought his noble for nine pence.
He has had a bite upon his bridle.
He is a wise man who speaks little.
He is proper who hath proper conditions.
He knows not a B from a bull's foot.
He knows not a hawk from a handsaw.
He lacks most that longs most.
Help the lame dog over the stile.
He liveth long and liveth well.
He'll find some hole to creep out at.
He loses nothing for the asking.
He loses his thanks who promises and delayeth.
He loses nothing that keeps God for his friend.
He loves roast beef well that licks the spit.
He may well be contented who needs neither borrow nor flatter.
He must needs run whom the devil drives.

He that has no shame has no conscience.
He that hath no silver in his purse should have silver on his tongue.
He that hath a good harvest may be content with some thistles.
He that is angry is seldom at ease.
He that is warm thinks all are so.

He that runs fast must not run long.
He that runs in the night stumbles.

A Foolish Toad.

The other day as I lay in my hammock I saw a huge toad winking and blinking lazily under the large leaf of a foliage plant. He looked contented and happy and just as if he didn't care whether school kept or not. A bumble bee came buzzing around the flower. That toad opened his eyes, looked around deliberately, winked once at me and then to all appearances went to sleep again. He was not asleep, however, for the next moment when the adventurous bee came a trifle nearer he made a little jump, opened his countenance till I thought he would actually drop in two, there was a red flash and the bee had disappeared. I was just beginning to wonder where it had gone when I observed the toad begin to look melancholy. I then noticed that his white vest was puffed out like an alderman's. In less time than it takes to tell it he was the most lonesome looking toad I ever saw.

He seemed to reflect a minute, and then he got into the attitude in which the old painter present Nebuchadnezzar when he was out to pasture. His big mouth was close to the ground while his hind feet stood on tiptoe. He had swallowed something hot and I was now going to get rid of it by reversing the process. After several violent efforts, during which his whole anatomy heaved with emotion, the troublesome Jonah was ejected and lay on the grass before him. The toad wasn't winking at me any more. Instead he was venting looks of revengeful spite at the unfortunate author of all his troubles, which by this time presented a sorry appearance. Soon he cautiously approached and with a lightning like movement the bee again disappeared, this time to stay. For a moment the toad moved cautiously, as if to avoid stirring up again that burning fire beneath his vest, and then seeing that it was all right hopped back with an elated air and went to sleep under the leaf.—Syracuse Journal.

SATURDAY EVE., AUGUST 17, 1889.

THE case of Mrs. Maybrick, now under sentence of death, is being considered by the Home Secretary, and her friends have strong hopes of either a pardon or a commutation of sentence.

EBEN S. ALLEN, the tricky street car president, of New York, who plead guilty to the fraudulent issue of stock, has been sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

THE trial of the Cronin murder suspects has been set for August 26. The state's attorney says that his evidence is all ready, and expresses the belief that he will be able to convict and hang three or four of those accused. The trial will be a notable one.

LITTLE Miss Florence Sells, aged 10, daughter of Peter Sells, of circus fame, has sent to the suffering children of Johnstown, a box of dolls collected and dressed by herself, and received in reply a neat letter from a member of the relief committee.

AND now it is whispered that in a political sense Maryland is growing shaky. There are indications that it may break away from the solid South in November, and join with the Virginias in a new departure from Bourbon rule, and ring domination. Maryland is not a large state and the grip of Gorman's ring is not so tight but that it may be broken. Speed the day.

ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL CLARKSON takes up the comments of the Atlanta Constitution on the post office muddle in that city, and shows how that paper is attempting to create a false impression with reference to the matter. Clarkson is fully as bright and well-posted as Grady, and the advantage of having the truth and the facts on his side simply make him invincible.

THE auditor of the treasury for the postoffice department under the Cleveland administration was in the habit of boasting of the reduction of expenditure in his bureau. It turns out, upon investigation, that he effected this alleged saving by allowing the work of the office to accumulate in great bundles of papers which his successor is now adjusting. The arrears extend back nearly three years, and much confusion, if not loss, is certain to ensue.

EX-SPEAKER CARLISLE is making a tour of Mexico, and on Wednesday night of this week was accorded a reception at the capital, at which speeches were indulged in and the great American took occasion to tell the Mexicans, in the English language, how much he thought of them and their country, and the great Mexicans returned the compliment by informing the great American, in the Spanish language, how much they thought of him and his country. As a sample of mutual back-scratching the occasion has been rarely equaled and never excelled.

JUDGE FIELD was yesterday arrested as an accessory to the killing of Judge Terry. He made application for a writ of habeas corpus, which was at once granted by Judge Sawyer, of the U. S. Circuit Court, and the case was set for hearing next Thursday morning. Justice Field was then released on $5,000 bail. The Supreme Court of California refused to adjourn out of respect to Judge Terry's memory, the reason given being that he had resigned his position on the bench to fight a duel, and that he was killed while assaulting a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

How is this report that Cleveland is to take the stump against Foraker in Ohio? A month or two ago there were reports that the beneficiary of Burchard's obsequies would throw himself into the breach like another Arnold Winkelreid, and save the Buckeye state from one more term of Foraker, but the patriot hero appears to have thought better of it, and instead of marching around the state of Ohio with blood in his eye will hie himself to some wooded retreat to tempt the shy croppie or the vigorous bass from its watery home. And in thus changing his base Grover shows that he has some sense left yet. He don't propose to monkey with that threshing machine.

Police.

John Starpatz, charged with the larceny of coal picks, was discharged by Justice Curtis for want of prosecution.

Do not let an acute attack of cold in the head remain unsubdued. It is liable to develop into catarrh. You can rid yourself of the cold and avoid all chance of catarrh by using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. If already afflicted rid yourself of this troublesome disease speedily by the same means. MOB RULE.

Serious Outbreak Between Factions at Richmond, Texas.

Troops Ordered to the Scene, and Others Held in Readiness to Move on Short Notice.

AUSTIN, TEX., Aug. 16. The long-looked-for outbreak between the contending political factions in Fort Bend County commenced at Richmond, the county seat, to-night. Scores of shots have been fired, and Sheriff Garvey and a man named Blackney were badly wounded. Richmond is in the hands of the mob, and intense excitement prevails. Captain Reinhart, of the Houston Light Guards, has just been instructed to proceed to the scene of the conflict on a special train, and Governor Ross will leave here to-morrow. Troops at Brenham and other points were ordered to-night to hold themselves in readiness. Captain Aten of the Rangers with four men is at Richmond, but he seems powerless and has asked for military assistance. The large number of the contending parties and the great bitterness existing between the factions may lead to most dreadful consequences if the trouble is not promptly quelled.

FATAL WRECK.

Accident to an Excursion Train Filled with Union Veterans.

Two Passengers Instantly Killed, and a Large Number More or Less Injured.

A Loaded Coal Train Plunges Over a Thirty-Foot Embankment—Tramps Injured.

FREEPORT, Pa., Aug. 17.—An excursion train on the Butler branch of the West Pennsylvania road loaded with veterans returning from the reunion of the One Hundred and Second regiment at Butler last evening, was wrecked at Sarvers, seven miles east of this city, two passengers being instantly killed; three or four others perhaps fatally, and twenty-five more or less seriously injured. The wreck was caused by the rails spreading on the end of a small bridge that spans Buffalo creek, the timbers on which the rails were laid being so rotten that the spikes had been forced out at the side by the weight of the train passing over. The train consisted of a smoker, day coach and combination coach. The engine stood about one hundred yards from the wreck still uninjured on the track. The smoker was smashed into splinters, and fell fifteen feet down the embankment. The front truck of the coach was also thrown over the embankment, the hind truck remaining on the track. The combination car also remained on the track. Of the twenty passengers in the smoker one was killed and nineteen injured, it being a miracle that all were not killed.

W. Powers, of Pittsburgh, and a daughter of Mrs. Farrell, of Butler, aged about six years, were killed.

The most seriously injured are:

Captain Lowry, Allegheny, hand hurt badly and injured internally.

Conductor J. S. Gray, Butler; hurt in head and internally; will probably die.

Mrs. F. Groff, Pittsburgh; injured internally.

Mrs. Mantzer, of Butler; seriously hurt.

Charles Zeitz, of Fairview, Pa., cut in head and breast.

Jackson McConnathu, of Tarentum, large hole in leg, badly bruised and scratched.

Charles Kearns, brakeman, of Butler, bruised and nervous prostration; will probably die.

Mrs. Dennis Duff, Lawrenceville, seriously injured; may not recover.

General Thomas A. Rowley, of Pittsburgh, injured internally.

John Duff, boy of ten years, severely bruised and internal injuries.

The President's Arrival in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—It was a few minutes before two o'clock when the train to which was attached President Roberts' private car, containing the President and Private Secretary Halford, arrived at the Baltimore & Potomac railroad station here. The trip from New York to Washington was made without incident, and there was no demonstration at the station. At eight minutes past two the President's private coupe, driven by Albert Hawkins, arrived at the President's Mansion. As the President and Mr. Halford alighted a score of newspaper men and others, who had assembled on the main portico, pressed forward. As they did so the President lifted his hat to the crowd, and said smilingly: "How 'dy do. Much obliged for this reception."

The President sent a telegram to Mrs. Harrison soon after reaching the White House, informing her of his arrival here, and also that he would accompany her to Deer Park. Mrs. Harrison will leave Narragansett by boat to-night, and will take a through train from New York to Deer Park. She will be joined at the Baltimore & Ohio station by the President at three o'clock to-morrow morning.

Both the President and Mr. Halford looked tanned. The latter, in speaking of the trip to Maine, said that the President had enjoyed himself, and was much benefitted by the brief outing.

Secretary Proctor called at the Executive Mansion this afternoon. This evening Secretary Windom dined with the President and spent an hour or two in conference with him. A number of appointments may be expected to-morrow.

Sullivan Found Guilty.

PURVIS, Miss., Aug. 18.—Arguments in the Sullivan case were made yesterday by District Attorney Neville for the State, and Ex-Attorney-General Ford and Judges Calhoun and Green for the defense. The District Attorney urged the jury to vindicate the good name of the State by showing that the law would be upheld. The requests to charge were then read. The jury, after being out an hour and a half, returned a verdict of "Guilty of prize-fighting, as charged in the first count of the indictment." Sullivan looked annoyed, but otherwise showed no emotion. He left the court room with several of his friends, and though apparently a little down-hearted at first, soon recovered his geniality. The case against Referee Fitzpatrick will be taken up to-day. Sentences will be pronounced later.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

One Man Killed and Many Persons Seriously Injured

By an Explosion of Escaped Gas in a New York Crockery Store—List of Casualties.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—At eight o'clock last evening an explosion of escaped gas occurred in the crockery store of Thomas J. McCabe, No. 49 Grand street, by which one man was instantly killed and a dozen men, women and children were badly injured. The shock was felt for quite a distance around, and caused great excitement in the thickly-crowded neighborhood. Flames quickly followed the explosion, and the store was soon ablaze.

When the explosion occurred the heavy plate-glass windows were burst violently into fragments and hurled into the street. Broken pieces of crockery were also thrown in all directions. Morris Jacobs, aged seventeen years, who was passing the store at the time, was struck in the back and neck by several pieces of plate glass, and was so terribly lacerated that he bled to death after staggering a few yards away.

Among the injured, some of whom had been in the store and some of them passing in the street, are:

Jacob Seigel, aged twenty-four, head and neck cut; may die.

Lena Abrahams, aged nine, cut on head.

Betsy Gruber, fifteen, right arm cut.

Jennie Friedman, sixteen, shoulder lacerated.

Gussie Friedman, thirteen, head and knee cut.

Harris Becker, thirty-five, left hand cut.

David Dundas, ten, both legs badly cut.

Teresa Malkin, forty, hand and neck badly cut; also injured by being knocked down.

Rosa Malkin, daughter of Teresa, sixteen, forehead lacerated.

Mary Parr, cut about head.

Gus Hinderman, twenty, arms cut.

Albert Klein, twenty-five, badly cut about head.

Isaac Rosenberg, aged twenty; cut on arm.

Bernard Goldman, aged twenty-four; cut on head and arms.

Anthony Pollock, aged eighteen; head and arms cut.

Abraham Kuntz, aged twenty-two; head and arms cut.

Aaron Tyrolor, aged seventeen; cut about the head.

Bernard Barnett, aged twelve; head, legs and arm cut.

Leon Bossin, aged ten; both legs and feet cut.

Aaron Yosks, aged twenty-seven; head and legs cut.

Louis Speigel, aged fourteen; hip cut.

Leah Ziehek, aged eight; ear cut.

Patrick Jackman, aged thirty-three; severely cut on wrist.

Phillip Rosenberg, aged ten; hand cut.

Philip Sheridan, aged fourteen; forehead cut.

Solomon Rosenthal, a mute, aged eighteen; hands cut.

A few others were cut or bruised, but went home before their names could be learned.

Jacobs was returning home from work. He had just gotten employment after being idle for some time, and had been telling his friends how glad he was for his family's sake. Seigel was crazed by his wounds and the shock, and ran madly through the street scattering blood as he went. He fought desperately with a policeman who stopped him, but was finally overpowered and taken to the police station and thence to a hospital. It is feared that his skull is fractured. Mrs. Malkin and her daughter live near by, and were walking up and down the block for exercise. The Friedman sisters had been visiting friends across the way from McCabe's, and had just crossed the street.

The fire was put out before the building was much damaged. None of the members of the six families occupying the building were hurt.

The explosion damaged the upper floors of the building, and two or three of the occupants were slightly injured by broken glass and plaster.

A RICH FIND.

What the Search of a Miserly Old Widow's House Revealed.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 17.—On Wednesday an aged widow, who lived alone in her house at Winthrop and Pleasant streets, was found dead in her kitchen, having evidently died at least two days before. She had lived the life of a hermit and miser. She had no nearer relatives than cousins. Yesterday two of the relatives by advice of the probate judge, searched the house and discovered good bonds and stocks to the value of $40,000. No will was found, but one is believed to be in existence. The property has been deposited with a trust company to the order of the judge of probate, pending the settlement of the estate. The relatives making the search are Hezekiah Gaylord and John M. Newbarry, of this city. There are other relatives in this State and the West. Under the new Collateral Inheritance Tax law, five per cent. of the value of the estate goes to the State.

ARRIVAL OF THE DYNAMOS.

Station Supplies for the Citizens' Electric Railway in Decatur.

After many days of patient waiting, the Citizens' Electric Railway Company were more than pleased this morning to learn that the long-delayed dynamos or generators for the power house had arrived, and bright and early Manager Ferguson had a large force of men handling the heavy pieces, transferring them from the cars to the power house on East North street.

The generators are the business end of the plant and they came from the Thomson Houston factory at Lynn, Mass. They were loaded on the cars, making a total weight of 21,900 pounds, the armatures alone weigh 1800 pounds each. The heavy iron frames are five feet high and each is 6 feet wide and 7 feet long. The pair of generators, complete, with all attachments, cost $10,000. Each generator is of 80 horse power, one alone having a capacity to operate 12 cars—both 25 to 30 cars sufficient motive power to supply the demand in Decatur for many years.

WILL BE RUNNING WITHIN 10 DAYS.

"How soon will the cars be in motion?" was the oft-repeated question put to Manager Ferguson.

With a weary expression he replied: "O, I guess we had better not set a time. The delay of the Thomson-Houston people in sending the generators has cut us out of big business we might have done at both camp meetings, but as we cannot get ready in time to carry the people on Sunday, we will go slow and will get in good shape before we turn on the current. There is a vast amount of particular work to be done such as putting in the armatures making the connections, fixing the lightning arresters and testing the generators. The engines are all right and run better every day. I think we will be in good running order within a week or ten days. You can tell the public that."

Torrance Parish, the electrician from Cincinnati, remarked: "Yes, I think ten days will see the cars going in good shape. Everything else is ready for immediate operation except the generators and the adjustment of the endless belts which have to come from Chicago. This business requires a good deal of care and time to make the settings and the attachments but after everything is put in proper shape, the plant will go smoothly for all time to come."

There is a great crowd of curious people at the power house to see that everything they don't know anything about is done properly.

Dr. J. N. Bibbs will move his combination block off the Powers ground near the Grand Opera House early in September, and locate it on the lot at the corner of South Webster and Decatur streets, in the Fourth ward. The lower rooms will be fitted up for family use, connected with the upper rooms. There will be a total of 18 rooms, with 6 in each of the three separate departments.

Two Successful Experiments.

TAYLORVILLE, ILL., August 16.—The Brown-Sequard elixir of life craze has struck this city. Dr. D. K. Cornell has made two successful experiments. The doctor selected a suitable animal, and after it was killed he hastily prepared the elixir from the separated parts, with the assistance of Mr. Leon Cornell a druggist, using every antiseptic precaution, so that a very short time elapsed between the killing and the use of the preparation. The doctor first took the precaution to examine microscopically several samples of the fluid, and found it free from disease germs. Two of the persons, aged 60 and 65 years, on which he used the elixir hypodermically, were afflicted with chronic rheumatism of many years' standing. One of them, known as Uncle Bob, a colored man, reported to the doctor this morning that he had no pain since the treatment, and claims to feel like a young man. The other case was rheumatism of one knee. The injection made some slight swelling, being placed in the calf of the afflicted limb, but the painful knee is very much better now, although three days have passed since the tests were given.

The barn on the farm of John Marsh, 5½ miles east of Macon, and its contents were entirely destroyed by fire Wednesday night about 10 o'clock. The farm is now occupied by Mr. Marsh's son, Jesse. Cause of fire unknown.—Macon News.

Funeral of 'Squire Palmer.

The funeral of the late A. W. Palmer took place at 11 o'clock this forenoon from the family residence, 359 West Decatur street, Rev. W. H. Prestley officiating, and was attended by many of the friends and neighbors who knew and loved the old gentleman in life. The floral offerings were very choice, embracing a harp, a sheaf of wheat, a wreath of lilies, another of tube roses, a pillow inscribed "Father" and another marked "Grandfather," and the casket was literally covered with these and other offerings. The services included two hymns by a select choir, "My Faith looks up to Thee," and "Abide with me," reading of scripture lessons by the officiating minister, a short discourse based upon the 13th verse of the 25th chapter of Matthew, and a closing prayer. The minister spoke feelingly of the character of the deceased, and the honorable part he had performed in life. The remains were then viewed by those who desired to look upon the face of the dead, the casket was closed, the procession wended its way to Greenwood, where all that was mortal of the good 'Squire was laid to rest on one of its most beautiful hillsides.

The pall bearers were D. H. Heilman, R. P. Lytle, James Millikin, T. T. Roberts, John Ullrich and J. R. Mosser.

A Big 4 1-2 Days' Threshing.

Samuel Perry, of Bearsdale commenced work last Monday morning, and during the week moved in all 10¼ miles and set 14 times, and lost a half day during that time on account of parties not being ready to thresh. Up to last evening he had threshed in the 4½ days' 10,274 bushels of oats and 171 bushels of wheat. Mr. Perry has an Advance outfit and Champion grain weigher and has threshed at the rate of 11 bushels per minute at several different times.

The threshing was done on the farms of Jacob Emrynk, Jerry Miller, Wm. Buck, H. H. Pharis, H. C. Ferrell, J. H. Lehman and Samuel Prostman.

Campers.

A party of campers leave Monday morning at 7 o'clock for Spring Lake going by rail to Pekin and then chartering a steamer to the Lake. The party includes Vade Conklin, Wm. Fearn, George Post, James Taylor, George Weaver and a cook. They will be in camp ten days.

GEN. JOHN MCNULTA, late Receiver of the Wabash road sailed, accompanied by his wife, on Wednesday for Europe to be absent several weeks. He predicted to the friends of the Wabash in New York City before leaving that under the reorganization the road was to be one of the most prosperous in the territory it operates over.

A Supposed Murder.

The Lincoln Review this week contains a column of somewhat sensational information about one R. A. Drummond, age 40 years who formerly lived in Decatur with his family. Drummond is an organ and sewing machine repairer, and travels about the country in a buggy, accompanied by his wife and 15 months old child. He was at Tuscola recently, leaving that place with his family for Atwood, where he got on a spree in a saloon. His wife got tired of waiting for her husband and she went into the saloon after him, the man driving off in the buggy. On the way the drunken husband assaulted his wife in a brutal manner and came near tearing the clothes off her back. A farmer named McAllister came along the road and the woman who had fallen out of the rig, ran to him bleeding and bruised for protection, but McAllister was scared off by Drummond who threatened to shoot him if he offered any interference. The alarm was given and seven Atwood people gave chase but failed to find any trace of the buggy or of the Drummonds. The next day Drummond was seen 10 miles away, with only the child in the buggy. The Review suggests that Drummond possibly murdered his wife and urges the authorities to search for the body. The Atwood regulators will take the case in hand.

HER WORK IS NEVER DONE

SIMPLY BECAUSE THERE ISN'T ENOUGH SYSTEM ABOUT IT.

If Housekeeping Is Properly Systematized It Can Be Finished Just as Man's Labors Are—Plans Suggested by a Lady Who Has Studied the Subject.

Women are constantly complaining that their work never ends—that while a man works only during certain hours of the day they never get through. The principal reason, perhaps, is that they do not put enough thinking into their work.

"Why couldn't you tell me everything at once?" was the petulant protest of a child who had been sent up stairs to her mother's room first for a pair of scissors, then for a tape measure, then for a spool of cotton, and finally for a garment that was to be mended and had been forgotten.

The child received a sharp reproof for her impertinence, the mother placidly remaining quite oblivious of the fact that she also needed a reproof for her own heedlessness. The child recognized the injustice and didn't forget it. A little thought would have saved steps and temper; and it is this same thought that needs to go into the everyday work.

One trouble with women—many of them—is, they fail to recognize housekeeping as a business, to be carried on, as any business is, with dignity and with method. They regard it as a drudgery, and they fret and worry over it until both mind and body are disturbed, and the peace of the household is worried with contention. The mental atmosphere of the house mother is felt by every one, and she cannot be out of sorts without putting everybody else out. It may be impossible to keep from fretting, and a difficult task to be always serene; but one can more nearly approximate the latter condition and keep free from the former by having things so arranged about the house that everything will go like the traditional "clockwork."

Mrs. Cornelius, who has been the friend and counselor to so many young housekeepers, has arranged the work of the week in a few words of kindly advice. Nothing better has ever been written, and it is good enough to quote as a text. She has arranged this for the benefit of families whose pecuniary means allow an entirely comfortable, but not a costly, mode of living. You will see that it differs somewhat from the customary "Monday work," etc. She says: On Monday have the house swept and dusted, the clothes for the wash collected and such articles mended as should be before being washed. On Tuesday wash. In families where the washings are large it is better to delay the ironing till the next day but one. This gives time for doing some things necessarily omitted on washing day, for instance, baking if the size of the family makes it necessary (bake twice a week) and for folding the clothes, as one is better able to do the whole ironing in a day than if she was to perform this labor on the day immediately after the washing day.

Therefore on Wednesday bake and fold the clothes, on Thursday iron, on Friday have all parts of the house that are in constant use swept and dusted again, the brasses rubbed, the windows cleaned, and if there are closets to be cleaned let them be done on that day also. On Saturday bake and provide such a supply for the table as shall supersede the necessity of cooking on Sunday, which should be "the day of rest" for the house mother as well as for all the rest of the household.

Still another way is to wash on Monday, bake and do other things necessarily omitted on Tuesday, iron on Wednesday, mend and take your ease on Thursday, sweep and clean on Friday, bake on Saturday and lay out the clean linen for rooms, beds and individuals. This is the plan that is the most often followed. But there are improvements even upon this well tried method, if housekeepers are not so wedded to their ways as to be unwilling to try the experiment.

Women who do their own work, relying possibly upon young daughters for the little help they can give them outside of school hours, often find the laundry work, particularly the washing, the stumbling block. It is not always easy to get a woman to come for washing; it is an expensive matter to send to the laundry, and the only alternative is "do it yourself." The task is much simplified if the husband will send shirts and collars to the laundry, and there are comparatively few who cannot afford to do this. That part taken out, half the dread of the work is done. Summer or winter the shirts and collars are a bugbear, particularly as they are made. So begin by supposing that that part of the family linen goes to the laundry.

That leaves a washing larger than most women want to do at once; so on Friday, when the rooms are swept and dusted, change the bed linen. Friday evening put it to soak, and it is a very easy matter on Saturday morning to boil it and hang it out. The bed linen is not hard, but large and heavy, and it is a good deal gotten out of the way, and the Monday wash does not seem nearly so hard. The baking can then be done, and you will be all ready for Sunday. On Monday the remainder of the washing can be done. On Tuesday the clothes may be folded and necessary baking done. On Wednesday the ironing; Thursday may be a rather restful day. That is, the basket of clothes looked over and mended, and no extra work done. That brings you around again to Friday, with its cleaning.

Now, here are the ways all ready laid out for you, and you may take which you like. Only, whichever way you decide, keep to that way, and don't be perpetually trying experiments. In that way you lose all ideas of system.

There are times when sickness or some untoward circumstance will put everything awry, and make it impossible that you shall carry out your idea and plan; but that is only a temporary upset that will come to every one in every branch of business. The only thing is not to worry over, and to "catch up" as quickly as you can.—New York News.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her; for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Dr. A. J. Stoner's Drug Store. bm

STREET CAR MANNERS.

Observations Upon One or Two Common Types of Boorishness.

One day last week a car on one of the Traction company's lines became pretty well crowded with passengers, mostly ladies, before its trip was half made. In the corner next the rear door sat a well dressed lad of 16, evidently the son of parents in good circumstances. Within a space of two squares three old men, none of whom were less than 70, one nearly blind and all more or less crippled, got in the car. Seats were furnished for two of them by gentlemen who stood, and a gray haired lady gave the third her seat. The boy never moved or gave the least indication that he knew or cared whether older or helpless people were standing while he was comfortably seated.

If this boorish and ill mannered boy was the only one of his type it would be hardly worth while to refer to the matter; but, unfortunately, he is not. There are hundreds and thousands like him. In many cases, perhaps, these lads are more to be pitied than blamed. Any one who witnessed the selfishness and want of courtesy shown by the lad in question recognized that defective home training was at the root of his ill mannered selfishness. He had not been taught respect for age or sympathy for helplessness. Therefore, he failed to exercise either. Would it not be worth while for parents and teachers, while teaching the boys a good many other things, to teach them manners, too? If they can't be induced to do it from a love of good manners on their own part they should do it for very shame, for every exhibition of selfish boorishness like the one above mentioned is an advertisement to the world that all the world reads of a lack of proper home training. The boorish boy gives away his boorish parents or teachers.

In the same car, before it became quite so crowded, was another boor—the fellow who folds and unfolds his newspaper, digging his elbows into the passengers on each side of him while doing so. This fellow is in almost every morning and evening car. His elbows are worn sharp by constant practice, as thousands of his fellow riders can testify from painful experience. He is worse than the boy who hasn't been taught good manners and isn't old enough to have learned himself, for the newspaper boor is usually a full grown and often a middle aged man. There is another type of the newspaper boor found in most street cars. He is the fellow who gets in soon after the car starts and becomes so absorbed in his newspaper that he can't see other people standing, while he and his newspaper occupy the space of two or more seats.

Really, it is hardly to be wondered at that half grown boys sit in supreme and unconscious selfishness while crippled age stands, when they are furnished so many examples of boorish selfishness by those that should be their teachers and exemplars in courtesy. Can't some kind hearted and wealthy philanthropist be induced to find an institution for the reformation of the various adult street car boors, including, besides those just mentioned, the cross legged boor, the fellow whose cane or umbrella is stuck out to trip other passengers, and all the other examples of the genus boor? If these ill mannered fellows were reformed, perhaps the half grown lads might learn street car courtesy by the process of imitation.—Philadelphia Times.

In the House of a Rich Japanese.

The wealthy Japanese make no display either in the architecture of their houses or in the display of ornaments. In the way of furnishing, their pride is in the delicacy of their mats and the richness of the satin cushions. The chief room in the house of a rich Japanese is thus described: "The salon was about 25 feet long by 15 wide. At one end, in the corner, was a small raised platform in a little niche and on it a fine Imari vase three feet high, holding flowering branches of the cherry tree. Behind, upon the wall, hung a very valuable but very ugly kakamono of a god. Twelve blue satin fouton lay in two rows upon the floor and three standing lamps stood in a line between. A folding screen was placed to protect us from draught—and that was the entire furniture of the millionaire's drawing room. The 'mats' upon the floor were of the whitest and finest straw. The screen was a gorgeous one, with a battle scene painted upon a gold background." The Japanese keep their bric-a-brac in fire proof buildings, to be taken out one at a time and admired, and then replaced by another.—Chicago Times.

A "Position Finder."

Maj. Watkins' "position finder," by which the guns of a battery or ship of war are concentrated by a single expert upon a definite object with the touch of a button in his remote place of observation, is making great progress. It will abolish much, if not all, of the interest in artillery practice. The gunners will have only to load, and then to take their directions as to elevation and training from a dial. They will generally be ignorant as to what they are firing at, and will probably have no knowledge whether or not their firing is effective. All their business will be to load, to watch the dial and to fire. If there is much smoke, so as to obscure their view, that will be so much the better, for it will conceal them from the enemy, while the position finder directs them from his place, which may be clear from such obscurity.—Exchange.

Moved to Poetry.

The village of North Waldoboro (Me.) is so happy at getting rid of an affliction that the village poet burst into song over the event, in The Waldoboro News. The affliction is described as "the most aggravating dog that ever lived," and his epitaph follows:

"Old Prince" is dead, that horrid cur
They shot the rascal through the fur,
And all who know this canine bud
Can ne'er a feeling have that's sad.
We can't forget his naughty tricks,
Nor how he killed the hens and chicks;
Each cat he'd chase and kine and cub,
And bathed in Cushman's watering tub

Losing His Violin Finger.

I heard of an incident which occurred in a horse car here in Boston recently which illustrates anew the need of care by occupants to avoid injuring their fellow passengers. A manly little fellow had the end of one of his fingers cut off by the door of a box horse car being jammed against it by a heedless passenger. The car was crowded so that the boy was obliged to stand up, and not being tall enough to reach the straps he held on by the open door of the car. As one of the passengers went out he pulled the door violently and shut it against the boy's finger, leaving it hanging by a thread. Attempts were made by a surgeon to whom the boy's father took him to have the severed piece joined to the stump, but it would not hold. What adds to the misfortune of the boy's loss is that he is studying to be a professional violinist, his father being a well known performer on this instrument, and the finger mutilated is his "violin finger."—Boston Post.

Suppressing Dandies.

A Chinese provincial governor has recently forbidden the young men under his jurisdiction to wear gorgeously colored and embroidered garments, a practice which he declares to be foolish and unmanly, and he warns fathers, elder brothers and tutors that they will be held responsible for any inordinate luxury of apparel on the part of the youngsters. What would that governor say to the American dandies who are trying to introduce the fashion of wearing colored velvet coats?—Boston Transcript.
